

Sebastian Meis, LL.M. (NZ)

Sebastian Meis is a partner in BridgehouseLaw's office in Atlanta. Trained as a German and an American lawyer, Mr. Meis has represented companies in corporate matters, particularly in the formation of corporations and partnerships both in Germany and in the U.S.. He has extensive experience in advising companies as well as individuals in U.S. and German visa and citizenship issues. Mr. Meis has represented clients, including high net worth individuals and corporate executives, in complex immigration, dual citizenship and related tax matters. One concentration of Mr. Meis' practice has been the representation of German ""closed-end"" investment funds in corporate, tax and bank regulatory (BaFin) matters in connection with real estate as well as oil and gas investments in the United States. In addition, he has advised investors on the restructuring of investment funds in the United States.

Focus of practice

- Corporate
- Labor & Employment
- Commercial Real Estate, Industrial Property
- National and International Contract Law, GTC
- US Civil- and Corporate Law
- Banking & Finance
- German Immigration and Naturalization Law